Information is Your Lifeblood

In challenging economic times, there is a strong incentive to cut back on expenditures, including those for IT security. But threats to the confidentiality, integrity and availability of critical information do not depend on current balance sheets. Indeed, new regulatory and compliance requirements mandate that companies do even more to protect data. Downsizing, outsourcing, mergers and competition all pose new threats, while organized hacker and fraudster groups domestically and internationally increasingly exploit vulnerabilities. The new legal environment encourages class action litigation for failure to comply – all at a time when recourses may be stretched.

From Compliance to Security

Regulatory compliance is a process.....not as a piecemeal technology fix. We are agnostic regarding technology...we will work with you to provide the solution that is best for you and your organization, now and in the future. Our Secure IT Experts cover a wide suite of services to deliver compliance support for any size organization with any range of issues. Many companies see compliance as a cost – we see it as an opportunity. Being reasonably secure, protecting customer and confidential data, being aware of and reasonably reducing risk all allow your business to run more efficiently, and allow you to offer new products and services, and deliver them in new ways. Security is not just a cost of doing business. It enables you to do business. And in these times, isn't that what it is all about?

Secure IT Experts – Your Outsourced Expert Solutions

That is why we established Secure IT Experts. Many companies sell specific technologies – firewalls, intrusion detection/prevention, forensic software. These technologies are necessary but not a sufficient part of becoming secure. It takes business knowledge and expertise in law, policy, risk, intelligence and technology to help you design, implement, maintain and test an overall information security plan. Each of our experts has more than a dozen years of real-world experience in the business of securing information. “We offer World-Class Information Security Expertise for Everyone”.
